Fidel,

Can we get ██████████ tested that day too?

Has ██████████ been called?

Legally and ethically can someone kinda coach them what the test is generally so they can prepare? Or if an employed person cannot do it could someone brief me so I can take it from there?

I am deeply sorry but I am going to a luncheon tomorrow honoring Tom Donovan and Will Evans for St. Ignatius at the Union League Club and then I have to leave. The Speaker was scheduled to be at the Will Evans table but there is a health problem in his family and he will not be able to attend. Will does not know that item yet. I will tell him tomorrow.

My best,

Mike

My most sincere apologies

I believe I have a great sense of urgency. I certainly now understand your concern of not being responsive.

I replied to your email of this morning and as i saw this last email i saw that you didnt receive it. In fact, it was indeed in my "outbox". Full response but it did not leave my phone once I hit send.

I will confirm with you my replies

By the way, [REDACTED] is scheduled to be tested on 11/25

So, Fidel, first let me say that I have a lot of affection and respect for you. Period.

Secondly, let me say that when I am with you I find you engaging, insightful, informative and a person I want to know the rest of my life. I am talking personally and professionally.

But, I was at dinner last night with a friend of ours and he started talking about you. He said "are there two Fidels?". I asked him what did he mean and he said sometimes Fidel is totally responsive and engaging and I feel sometimes he is not with us.

It all of a sudden struck me that his observation is my own concern. I am a nobody. I know it. I happen to be blessed to be a decent agent. But, I sometimes find you very responsive to my inquiries and sometimes distant. Is the problem with me? Am I saying things to you that are in a way offensive? If I am not the right agent then we should find another. I just think there are times that you do not feel the urgency of a request. Urgency.

I am perplexed. So, I respect you are extremely busy but the below e-mail I did not receive a response to today. Thanks. I am on it. Go to hell. I do not have time for this today. I will be on it today. I will be on it Monday. Something.

I do not know how to respond to our friend who believes in his mind there should be a hard and quick favorable response.

Please help me....

It troubles me greatly...

My best,

Mike

Fidel,

Is there a way that we can have a working breakfast on Friday morning at 8:30 or so on some of these pending items or next week when you are in Springfield?

I know we are coming up on your traditional freeze on new hires and I got another resume to tender to you.

My best, Mike

PS: So, we have the below two gentlemen, [REDACTED] (new), [REDACTED] has never been given back his property tax files, [REDACTED] and a couple of other smaller items, if my memory is working this morning. Thanks.

PPS: [REDACTED] may see the Speaker on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving. I sure would like all of these items to be on track before then.

So, Fidel, you did not answer me. How do we act on this item? If I were you I would be furious with the staff person.

So, forgive me...I am tired...

So, the person that works for you makes a call and there is no response to I guess one of the two names and so there is no follow up with you until you make an inquiry?

So, she or he does not know if this is a Presidential request or God's but she or he knows it comes from her or his boss and then they wait until you write with a status report? You?

So, then you are rightfully so tired that you pass it on to me not distinguishing that the employee has been incompetent or disrespectful?

Please advise me how I should respond given the request?
