AN ACT concerning criminal law.

Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly:

4 Section 3. Purpose. The purpose of this Act is to ensure 5 the fair and compassionate treatment for children of 6 incarcerated parents. This Act does not create any new 7 individual right of action.

8 Section 5. Legislative findings. Based upon a study by 9 Lurie Children's Hospital's researchers, a report by the Annie 10 E. Casey Foundation titled "A Shared Sentence", the work of the 11 San Francisco Children of Incarcerated Parents Partnership, 12 and the findings of the Women's Justice Institute's Gender 13 Informed Practice Assessment, the General Assembly finds the 14 following:

(1) Seven million, or one in 10 of the nation's children, have a parent under criminal justice supervision, in jail or prison, on probation, or on parole.

18 (2) From 2011 to 2012, there were approximately 186,000 19 children in Illinois who had experienced parental 20 incarceration.

(3) Approximately 6% of children in Illinois haveexperienced parental incarceration.

Correctional Center in 2015, they reported having 3,700 children.

3 (5) Children with incarcerated parents have a daunting 4 array of needs. They need a safe place to live and people to 5 care for them in their parents' absence, as well as everything 6 else a parent might be expected to provide: food, clothing, and 7 medical care.

8 (6) Parental incarceration is classified as an Adverse 9 Childhood Experience. Multiple peer-reviewed studies connect 10 Adverse Childhood Experiences, a set of specific traumatic 11 events that occur during childhood, to poor mental and physical 12 health outcomes such as chronic diseases, certain cancers, 13 sexually transmitted infections, depression, and other mental 14 health conditions.

15 (7) Young adults who have experienced parental 16 incarceration are more likely to skip medical care, misuse or 17 abuse prescription drugs, and were more likely to use the 18 emergency room for medical needs.

19 (8) The trauma of being separated from a parent, along with a lack of sympathy or support from others, can increase 20 children's mental health issues, such as depression and 21 22 anxiety, and hamper educational achievement. Children of 23 incarcerated mothers in particular, are at greater risk of 24 dropping out of school. Research shows preserving a child's 25 relationship with a parent during incarceration benefits both 26 parties. It also benefits society, reducing children's mental

The Code of Criminal Procedure of 1963 is 3 4 amended by adding Article 106F as follows: 5 (725 ILCS 5/Art. 106F heading new) ARTICLE 106F. CHILDREN OF INCARCERATED PARENTS TASK FORCE 6 7 (725 ILCS 5/106F-10 new) 8 Sec. 106F-10. Task Force; creation. The Task Force on 9 Children of Incarcerated Parents is created. The purpose of the 10 Children of Incarcerated Parents Task Force is to develop and 11 propose policies and procedures that encourage the following 12 quiding principles to the extent possible: 13 (1) Children should be protected from additional trauma at 14 the time of parental arrest. (2) Children should be heard, respected, and considered by 15 16 decision makers when decisions are made about them. (3) Children should be considered when decisions are made 17 18 about their parent. 19 (4) Children should be cared for and provided access to 20 support in the absence of their parent in a way that prioritizes their physical, mental, and emotional needs. 21 22 (5) Children should be given an opportunity to speak with and see the incarcerated parent. 2 (6) Children should have access to local services and 3 programs that can provide support to them as they deal with 4 their parent's incarceration.

5 (7) Children should not be judged, labeled, or blamed for 6 the parent's incarceration.

7 (8) Children should be able to have a lifelong relationship
8 with their parents.
