1 agreed to integrate, he launched his college coaching career at 2 the age of 30; and

3 WHEREAS, After coaching and serving as the athletic 4 director three of the four years, Lou Henson was offered the 5 head coaching position at his alma mater, New Mexico State
6 University; within two years, he assumed the role of athletic 7 director in addition to the head basketball coach position; he 8 managed both jobs while playing a key role in the construction
9 of the Pan American Center, a 13,000-seat multipurpose arena;
10 he led the New Mexico State University Aggies to the Final Four 11 in 1970, where they finished third; and

12 WHEREAS, Lou Henson began coaching at the University of 13 Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1975; alongside his assistants
14 Tony Yates and Les Wothke, he made it a priority to visit every 15 high school in the State in order to foster positive 16 relationships with Illinois high school basketball coaches;
17 during that first year, he and his staff visited more than 400 18 high schools; and

19 WHEREAS, Lou Henson's efforts returned the University of 20 Illinois basketball program to prominence, which culminated
21 with the 1989 Final Four Flyin' Illini; his team was seldom 22 outhustled or outworked; his Flyin' Illini were considered one
23 of the most entertaining teams in collegiate basketball

1 history, capturing the hearts of Illini Nation and basketball 2 fans everywhere; he retired from the University of Illinois in 3 1996 as the school's all-time winningest coach with 423
4 victories in 21 seasons; and

5 WHEREAS, Lou Henson returned to the New Mexico State
6 University basketball program in the fall of 1997; after 7 discussing the matter with his wife Mary, he consented to only 8 coach for six months and stipulated that he receive no salary;
9 at his request, New Mexico State University paid him one dollar
10 per month to coach the Aggies for the first year, with his net 11 pay being the grand sum of 75 cents; he was persuaded to 12 continue coaching at New Mexico State University for the next 13 six years; and

14 WHEREAS, Lou Henson has the distinction of being the coach 15 with the most wins at both New Mexico State University and the 16 University of Illinois; he was entered into the sports halls of 17 fame at both universities, and their floors were named after 18 him; he is also one of a handful of coaches that have guided 19 two different teams to the Final Four; he was selected as a
20 member of the NCAA Basketball Hall of Fame on February 17, 21 2015; and

22 WHEREAS, Lou Henson was diagnosed with stage 4 cancer in 23 2003; he started aggressive treatment at Carle Cancer Center

1 and MD Anderson Cancer Center; although his cancer was in 2 remission, he contracted viral encephalitis one year later; he 3 was treated at the MountainView Regional Medical Center and 4 later at the Texas Rehabilitation Center; he returned home in a 5 wheelchair due to paralysis and other trauma; although he 6 worked tirelessly to walk again, the encephalitis impacted his 7 balance; by last count, he had fallen over 150 times with only
8 one serious injury; he never complained about any of his health 9 issues; he was thankful to have survived the cancer and 10 encephalitis and incredibly grateful for his health care 11 providers; and

12 WHEREAS, Lou Henson is synonymous with University of 13 Illinois basketball as it is impossible to discuss the 14 university's basketball program without mentioning him; he was 15 a coach who based his programs on strict discipline, which many 16 of his former players credit for the success they achieved 17 after their playing days; his humble demeanor, kindness, and 18 tremendous character will never be forgotten; and

19 WHEREAS, Lou Henson was preceded in death by his son, Louis 20 Ray Henson Jr.; and

21 WHEREAS, Lou Henson is survived by his wife of 65 years,
22 Mary Catherine Brantner Henson; his three daughters, Lori Jo
23 Henson, Lisa Rose (John) Rutter, and Leigh Anne (Coit) Edison;

1 his 12 grandchildren; his seven great-grandchildren; and his
2 numerous nieces and nephews; therefore, be it

3 RESOLVED, BY THE SENATE OF THE ONE HUNDRED FIRST GENERAL
4 ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS, that we mourn the passing of 5 Louis Ray "Lou" Henson and extend our sincere condolences to 6 his family, friends, and all who knew and loved him; and be it
7 further

8 RESOLVED, That a suitable copy of this resolution be 9 presented to the family of Lou Henson as an expression of our 10 deepest sympathy.
